PREFACE

by Jan Willem Goudriaan, General Secretary

Dear Colleagues, dear Congress delegates,

It will be great to see you all in Dublin for the 10th EPSU Congress. Our Irish affiliates will be welcoming us with their famous Irish hospitality and camaraderie. Many thanks to all the activists and leadership for doing such excellent work to ensure everything goes smoothly.

Congress takes place at a key moment. Years of failed austerity and structural reform policies have left many public services reeling from a lack of funding, staff shortages and privatisation. Across the continent labour reforms have sought to weaken job protection for workers, to make the labour market more flexible and to undermine collective bargaining. This has led to increased inequalities with increasing gender pay and pension gaps. Climate change has acquired a new urgency and the digitalisation of our economy and societies is increasing at a rapid pace. Addressing these challenges requires public investment, just transitions for workers facing job insecurity and new strategies to strengthen public services and workplace democracy.

Unfortunately we see the legitimate concerns of workers about their future being abused by politicians whose scaremongering and scapegoating put the blame for people's problems on the arrival of migrants and refugees fleeing from war, hunger and poverty. Nationalists, euro-sceptics and the extreme-right have regrettably gained traction with attacks on our values of solidarity, democracy and social justice and by blaming the EU for people's woes.

At Congress we will debate together how we can stand up and defend our demands for a democratic, socially just and environment-friendly Europe and world.

We can be optimistic. Combining our strength makes it possible to address workers' concerns together. Today we see a renewed awareness that democracy and solidarity need to be defended. Many initiatives are being taken to assist and welcome migrants and refugees arriving in European countries. There is evidence of a renewed commitment to mobilise. This is forcefully shown by the many young people demanding fundamental change in our society.

Our Congress will assist in strengthening our cooperation and developing our policies for the future of public services, our workplaces and our unions. We look forward to lively debates and many contacts and exchanges between delegates. Together we have the task to grow our unions, to recruit and organise, to strengthen our voice and build our power for fundamental change and for the end to the exploitation of workers and our environment.

We look forward to meeting you all in Congress

In solidarity,

Fringe Meetings

• *Ensuring the right to energy for all: building movements to eliminate energy poverty in Europe

Tuesday 4th June 2019 in Minerva room from 12:00 to 13:30
Organised by the Right to Energy coalition and sponsored by EPSU

The Right to Energy coalition has been working on energy poverty at EU level since 2017, with green NGOs, social organisations and trade unions (including EPSU).

In this meeting we will present the demands and ways of working of the Right2Energy coalition and discuss people's solutions to energy poverty, which affects millions in Europe today.

How do we bring about a socially fair energy transition that would benefit people and planet?

How do we build movements around social and ecological demands, building new partnerships and alliances to demand them?

How do we guarantee access to clean and affordable energy for all, recognising energy as a common good?

• *Trade Union Perspectives on the EU's New Economic Governance in Healthcare and Water Services

Wednesday 5th June 2019 in Minerva room from 12:30 to 14:00
Organised by 2 researchers at the University College Dublin (UCD) and sponsored by Sanitas (Romania) and ver.di (Germany)

This fringe meeting will address the pressures that the EU's new economic governance, developed after the 2008 crisis, has placed on public services in healthcare and water, and the ways in which trade unions have responded to these pressures.

We will have a roundtable format to facilitate the sharing of knowledge between trade unionists and researchers.

All delegates and observers are warmly invited. A light lunch will be provided.

Confirmed speakers: Imre Szabo (UCD), Sabina Stan (UCD), Clivia Conrad (ver.di); Razvan Gane (Sanitas)

Moderator: Darragh Golden (UCD)

• Building Solidarity with Palestinian Workers

Wednesday 5th June 2019 in the Board room from 17:30 to 18:30

Organised by the European Trade Union Network for Justice in Palestine.

Sponsored by Unison (UK), Forsa (Ireland) and Fagforbundet (Norway)

For over half a century the military occupation of the West Bank and Gaza has undermined any prospects of a viable Palestinian economy and the right to decent work. Thousands of Palestinians are forced to seek precarious work in the illegal settlements, or endure long queues and humiliating treatment at checkpoints, in order to access work in Israel.

Join the event to learn about:

- New research highlighting the impact of European business and trade with the illegal settlements;
- How trade unions are working to defend the right to decent work;
- The impact of the occupation on public services;
- The establishment of the European Trade Union Network for Justice for Palestine.

Speakers:

Denis Keane – Forsa

Ingunn Eriksen - Fagforbundet

Paul Glover - UNISON

• Corporate Tax Campaigns Win for Public Service Workers

Wednesday 5th June 2019 in the Minerva room from 17:30 to 18:30

Organised by PSI with CICTAR (Centre for International Corporate Tax Accountability & Research)

The meeting will outline the opportunity for public sector unions to win for their members and their communities by directly exposing and challenging corporate tax dodging. Unions can win higher wages and working conditions for members and deliver better public services if multinational companies are made to pay tax where they generate profit. The session will introduce the work of CICTAR and highlight recent case studies of successful CICTAR campaigns. An interactive discussion will take place to help unions identify tax campaigns that will support quality public services and help change the global tax rules.

• Mapping Industrial relations systems in Europe

Thursday 6th June 2019 in the Minerva room from 12:45 to 13:45
Organised by Eurofound

This meeting will consist of an introduction to Eurofound's work and activities and a presentation for around 20 minutes on "Mapping Industrial relations systems in Europe"

The remaining time will be devoted to a Q&A session.

Speakers: David Foden and Christian Welz, Eurofound

David Foden is Adviser – Industrial Relations attached to the Working life Unit. He is responsible for coordinating work on industrial relations across the organisation. He worked from 1979 to 1985 in the Economic Department of the Trades Union Congress. In 1985, he moved to the European Trade Union Institute in Brussels as research officer and then coordinator of the research unit on employment and labour market policies and social protection. David joined Eurofound in 2002. As research manager (Industrial Relations and, subsequently, Surveys and Monitoring) he was responsible for the European Company Survey and for projects on European Works Councils, and was involved in managing the European Industrial Relations Observatory (now part of EurWORK). He was Head of the Observatories Unit until 2011, and from 2012-16 Head of the Working Conditions and Industrial Relations Unit. David holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Cambridge University, where he studied economics.

Christian Welz is a senior research manager in the Working Life unit at Eurofound. He manages projects and develops expertise and quality of research in the field of industrial relations. He is in charge of the European Industrial Relations Dictionary and a number of industrial relations governance projects (European Social Dialogue, articulation between the EU and national levels of social dialogue, mapping key dimensions of industrial relations). Prior to joining Eurofound, he was Deputy Director of a French-German training institute for civil servants, managed the EU unit of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Augsburg and was professor of EU law at the Universities of Applied Sciences in Kehl and Offenburg. He studied law at the Universities of Bonn, Freiburg, Aix-en-Provence and Strasbourg and holds a PhD from the University of Nijmegen. He was appointed honorary professor at the University of Kehl in 2017.

CONGRESS PROCEDURES

This section complements the EPSU Constitution and Congress Standing Orders (Appendix II of the Constitution) and aims to familiarise delegates with Congress procedures.

I. Constitution of Congress

Credentials Committee

The Credentials Committee is charged with the verification of delegates' credentials. The Committee is authorised to examine whether affiliated organisations fulfil the conditions and obligations laid down in the Constitution. The Credentials Committee is entitled to request from the General Secretary, from members of the Executive Committee and from any delegate in Congress information needed for the discharge of its duties or evidence bearing on the legitimacy of delegates' credentials. The Credentials Committee shall submit a report to Congress establishing the number of male/female delegates registered and voting. Based on this report the quorum for voting is established. If registered delegates are prevented from attending the Congress, the General Secretary must be informed of the name of any substitute so that a correct delegates list can be approved by the Credentials Committee. Voting or elections shall not take place before Congress has discussed and voted on the initial report and recommendations of the Credentials Committee.

II. Composition of Congress

Congress shall be composed of:

- a) delegates with voting rights, representing member organisations according to articles 7.4 and 17.4 on the basis of 2 votes for each member union up to  $x$  members or part thereof and one additional vote for each further  $x$  paid members or part thereof; no trade union may send more delegates than the number of votes to which it is entitled.

*$x$  is calculated as follows: number of paid up members:
number of seats remaining after the allocation of 2 seats per eligible union.*

The delegation entitlement shall be calculated on the basis of the year with complete affiliation data available that is closest to the deadline for sending the call to Congress. With the exception of unions having joined EPSU within the course of the Congress term, only those unions will be entitled to send delegates that have fulfilled their financial obligations according to paragraphs 17.3, 17.4, 17.5, 17.6, 17.7, 17.12 and 17.13 for each year of the Congress term. The maximum number of delegates is fixed at around 500;

- b) the President and General Secretary of EPSU with a right to speak and vote;
- c) the President and General Secretary of PSI with a right to speak and vote;
- d) representatives of ETUC, other European and international trade union organisations to which the member organisations are affiliated, at the invitation of the Executive Committee;
- e) guests, who may speak at Congress, at the invitation of the Executive Committee;
- f) observers and technical staff from member organisations not exceeding half of the delegation entitlement, observers from non-member organisations, at the invitation of the Executive Committee;
- g) the staff required to assist with Congress' proceedings.

III. Speaking at Congress

Except for a point of order or a procedural motion, delegates wishing to address Congress shall complete a "Request to speak" form. Request to speak forms are given to the Heads of delegations on registration. An affiliated union may not speak more than once on the same question without the permission of the Congress Board. Guests may address the Congress by arrangement with the Standing Orders Committee and at the invitation of the Congress Board.

The Congress Board shall be responsible for directing the debates and organising the order of business in accordance with the agreed agenda and timetables. The Board will establish a list of speakers on the basis of requests to speak.

Completed request to speak forms should be given to the Secretariat desk, indicating the name of the delegate, the organisation and the country represented and the agenda item, before the start of a particular session as indicated by the Congress Board.

With the exception of introductions to reports and resolutions, the speaking time for delegates is a maximum of five minutes. If necessary, the Board (or the Standing Orders Committee) can further limit the speaking time or close the list of speakers on a particular item. The Board may interrupt a speaker if he/she exceeds the speaking time agreed or if his/her contribution is considered to be out of order.

The President and General Secretary of EPSU are authorised to intervene at all times.

Participants who intend to read a paper are requested to hand 10 copies of their speech to the EPSU Congress Secretariat with their "request to speak" form to make sure that the interpreters get enough copies to cover all languages required.

Prior to speaking, participants should make sure that the microphone is switched on. They should start by stating their name, union and country and should speak at a moderate speed to give the interpreters a chance to interpret precisely what they are saying.

IV. Interpretation

During the Congress interpretation will be available:

Active interpretation in the following 10 languages: English, Finnish, French, German, Italian, Russian, Serbo-Croatian (BCSM), Spanish, Swedish and Turkish

Passive interpretation (speaking only) as follows: Czech, Danish, Greek, Norwegian, Portuguese, Romanian and Dutch

Please note that you may not leave the conference room or the foyer with headphones.

V. Policy documents

Apart from emergency resolutions, all finalised Congress documents were made available in all languages to affiliates on 9 April 2019 and can be found on the EPSU website www.epsu.org/article/congress-documents-13

  - 5.10 For an independent Palestinian state that provides quality public services to its citizens, submitted by Hizmet-İş

VI. Voting

Unless otherwise agreed, a Congress vote requires a quorum of 50% + 1 of delegates registered and voting.

Voting is normally by show of hands on presentation of the red voting card by delegates with voting rights, in accordance with Articles 7.4, 17.9, 17.10 and 17.11 of the Constitution.

In cases of doubt on the majority obtained or the quorum required, the tellers count the votes. If there is a tie, the chair of the meeting orders a second vote. If the second vote also results in a tie, the item is forwarded to the Executive Committee which examines it and takes a decision.

At the request of at least 4 affiliated organisations from 4 different countries, voting by mandate may take place, with the number of authorised votes being determined in accordance with paragraph 5 a) of the Standing Orders.

VII. Elections

The Executive Committee has decided that elections will take place by secret ballot for the posts of:

- President;
- General Secretary;
- Auditors.

Appendix III: Profile of artists participating in the ceremonies

- Kíla

Kíla will perform on Thursday, 6th June at Mansion House.

Formed at school in Dublin in the late 1980s, Kíla are heralded as one of Ireland's most innovative and exciting bands. Their unique sound has been ever evolving, rooted in tradition, yet inspired by a myriad of influences and ideas from all around the world.

Often defined as contemporary Irish World music, Kíla fuse their own melodies, Irish (Gaeilge) lyrics, Irish folk instruments such as whistles, fiddles, Uilleann pipes and bodhrán with djembe, congas, drums, mandolins, brass and acoustic/electric/ bass guitars. Kíla's eight members come from the differing musical backgrounds of traditional, classical and rock.

- Sive

Sive is a songwriter, singer and multi-instrumentalist with a voice that "sweeps along displaying folk and jazz nuances with the confidence of one who knows" (Eamon Carr, The Herald). Her unique sound weaves together her love for the craft of songwriting with her enthusiasm for experimentation and intricate arrangements.

Sive released her first album of original material, We Are Moving, to critical acclaim in 2012 and a second, The Roaring Girl, in 2017. She has toured extensively in Ireland, The UK, Europe and New Zealand, sharing stages with the likes of Lisa Hannigan, Kíla, Cathy Davey, Mick Flannery, Christy Moore, John Spillane and Gemma Hayes along the way. She was voted viewers' choice to appear on RTE's Other Voices in 2014 and has also performed on TG4's Róisín, TV3's Ireland AM, ARTE's Metropolis (Germany/France) and ETV's Terevisioon (Estonia).
